Russia, U. S. Clash as Soviets Press War-Monger Charges in Assembly.

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 4—A head-on Soviet-American clash over freedom of the press shaped up today as a sharp initial test of the determined Soviet campaign to get the United States assembly to brand the United States as a hotbed of anti-Russian "war-mongering."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was leading the American fight against the Soviet drive, evidently as part of a carefully planned American delegation strategy to present the issue as one of democratic freedoms versus totalitarianism.

"We cling to the right of criticism and disagreement" in the United States Mrs. Roosevelt told the United Nations social committee in a terse statement last night.

"In my country," she said to the other representatives of UN's 57 member nations, "we have certain documents, with which we hope every citizen is familiar, setting forth basic principles of freedom and democracy.

Criticism Is Right

"But we know that a free press will inevitably interpret certain principles of democrary in different ways, as will the people themselves. We have, therefore, differences of opinion. Sometimes the government and certain people disagree, but we cling to the right of criticism and disagreement.

"It is the price one pays for freedom and for democrary that the government often has to wait for the enlightment of the people. Totalitarianism may move faster, for good or ill, but we believe democracy and free people stand on a firmer foundation."

The Soviet proposal, which Mrs. Roosevelt asked the UN committee to reject would, in effect, call on a forthcoming UN conference on freedom of information and of the press to seek to organize the world press against "fascism" and "war-mongers."

The Soviet position was firmly supported by White Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Yugoslavia. The committee scheduled another session at 3 p. m., E.S.T., today to press toward a vote.

The main Russian "war-monger" charge against the United States is slated to come up soon in another UN committee, that on political affairs. Mrs. Roosevelt has been designated to assist in the American argument there also and the present contest therefore is in the nature of a preliminary test.

Other Developments

Her speech came at the close of one of the UN assembly's busiest days, which included these developments:

▶The new Moslem dominion of Pakistan charged before the legal committee that "thousands and hundreds of thousands are being butchered" in religious struggles following the partition of British India. The new dominion of India immediately challenged this assertion.

▶Britain defended her colonial empire as a bulwark of world peace and told the United Nations trusteeship committee that the world now must help to assure her colonial peoples of the benefits of peace.

▶The security council, on a proposal by Australia, called upon an American-Belgian-Australian commission in Batavia, Java, to get to work at once in an effort to settle the Dutch-Indonesian dispute in which fighting continues despite a council "cease fire" order issued last August.

▶Czechoslovakia urged before the Palestine committee that the big powers state as soon as possible whether they are willing to enforce any United Nations decisions on the future of Palestine.

▶The argument over American demands for a United Nations commission to keep watch on the Greek border with Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria entered a new phase when Belgian Premier Paul Henri Spaak spoke of the possibility that the Soviet satelite countries might "flout" such an agency if it is established. He declared they had rejected cooperation with an earlier security council commission.

COURT TOLD FIRM READY TO NEGOTIATE

Galion Company Will Talk When Plant Reopens.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, O., Oct. 4 — The North Electric Company of Galion, where a strike has been in progress since Aug. 20, is ready to negotiate with the CIO United Auto Workers as soon as the plant reopens, company counsel told common pleas court yesterday.

He said that the union, which is seeking recognition by the company and an increase in wages, had not replied to the proposal.

The statement was made by Attorney Robert Jamison of Cleveland at the end of the first day's hearing on the company's petition for an injunction to require peaceful picketing at the plant.

Judge Ralph Sugrue of Seneca county recessed the hearing until next Thursday.

Harry Ruth, a watchman, testified that more than 450 windows were broken on the night of Sept. 26, but there was no evidence offered to show who threw beer bottles and other objects at the windows.

Because of a two-hour conference prior to the hearing, Friday, at which time attempts were made to find some basis for settlement of the six-weeks strike of the company, the court was not called into session until 12:45 p. m., and then was immediately recessed until 1:45 p. m. when the hearing on the injunction petition began with the plaintiff's case presented by counsel and witnesses. Judge Ralph Sugrue of Tiffin was in charge of the hearing because of the illness of Judge Clarence U. Ahl. The assignment of Judge Sugrue was made by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio supreme court.

It was reported that Judge Sugrue held private conferences before court went into session; first with union representatives and then with company officials and attorneys in an effort to reach a settlement. Company representatives agreed to a plan for an election among employes of the company to choose a negotiation committee of employes. The committee would exclude Edward J. Duck, international representative of the UAW-CIO who has been conducting the strike in Galion, and to this Duck strenuously objected. He steadfastly maintained that there would be no negotiations without representation of an official of the UAW.

CHURCHILL BELIEVES ELECTION IS NEARING

By The Associated Press

BRIGHTON, England, Oct. 4—Winston Churchill told the annual conference of the Conservative party today to be ready for a new national election "at any time this year or next."

"It does not rest with us when a general election will take place," Churchill said in a speech prepared for delivery to the convention, "but it is quite certain that we should be most imprudent not to be ready for one at any time this year or next."

"We have every reason to believe that the Socialist government which, even in the hour of its triumph, did not represent a majority of the electorate, is now a substantial minority, and is ruling without the support and against the wishes of the large part of the nation," the former prime minister declared.

Churchill declared that the economic crisis "will not be mastered except by the election of a new house of commons."

He said the Labor government "has no moral right to deny the electorate a free expression of their opinion at an early date."

Generally Mild Weather Is Forecast for Weekend

By The Associated Press

Generally mild temperatures and clear skies were forecast for most of the country over the weekend.

There were scattered thundershowers in the middle and lower Missouri valley and the middle Mississippi valley in the last 24 hours, but fair weather was forecast.

Temperatures climbed into the 80's and 90's in the Gulf states and parts of the southwest yesterday and rose to as high as 83 in Chicago and 82 in Des Moines, Ia. Coolest weather was in parts of New England and in the northern Great Lakes region, with the mercury in the 50's and 60's.

Distillers Agree To Stop Using Wheat, Cut Other Grains Half

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—Armed with a pledge from more than half of the whisky industry to cut its grain consumption 50 per cent, President Truman's citizens' food committee today tackled the nation's brewers for a similar concession to western Europe's distress.

The distilled spirits institute, after a long session with committee Chairman Charles Luckman and his aides, voluntarily agreed last night to stop using wheat and cut the use of corn, barley and rye by 50 per cent. Luckman said the institute represents 60 per cent of the industry.

He predicted the remaining 40 per cent would follow suit, while an institute spokesman said enough whisky is now on hand to maintain a "steady flow to the market" of good whisky despite curtailed operations.

Offer More

But Publicker Industries, Inc., said the cut "doesn't do enough" and offered to do more. The big beverage and commercial alcohol firm told Luckman its companies "stand ready to join immediately in discontinuing all use of grain of any kind in the manufacture of distilled spirits" whenever the government requests.

The agreement with the distillers, announced by Luckman at the White House, was the committee's first major move in support of Mr. Truman's voluntary "self-rationing" plan designed to save 100,000,000 bushels of grain to help feed western Europe. This is the margin of difference between this area's estimated need — 570,000,000 bushels — and the supplies available.

Luckman estimated that the emergency will last anywhere from four to 10 months.

Adoption of the plan by all distillers would mean "a saving of 2,500,000 bushels of grain a month," Luckman said. This would be mostly corn. An institute spokesman said some wheat is used to flavor rye whisky, but a Publicker official said distillers "do not use any wheat," except in emergencies.

To Meet Brewers

Meanwhile, Luckman arranged a meeting today with a committee of the U. S. brewers foundation, composed of beer manufacturers, on the part that industry may play in grain conservation.

Meantime Secretary of Agriculture Anderson picked up substantial backing—from the 19-member committee on European aid in his effort to increase the margin requirements of the nation's grain exchanges. Such a move, he contends, would help check the inflationary trend and hold down the cost of foreign aid.

The committee of business and labor leaders, headed by Secretary of Commerce Harriman, unanimously adopted a resolution calling for at least a 33 1/3 per cent down payment on grain purchased for future delivery, in order to curb speculation. It urged that the margin be pushed "even higher if that proves inadequate." Exchange officials have tightened margin requirements, but not to the one-third level asked by Anderson.

In Chicago, J. O. McClintock, president of the Chicago board of trade, termed "ill advised" and "highly presumptuous" the committee's recommendations.

OVERELL JURY REMAINS OUT

Resumes Deliberations on Innocence or Guilt of Heiress in Parents' Death.

By The Associated Press

SANTA ANA, Calif., Oct. 4—The jury trying Louise Overell and George (Bud) Gollum for the yacht blast deaths of her parents was to resume deliberations today after failing to reach a verdict last night.

The jury of six men and six women deliberated until almost midnight while a tense throng packed the courtroom waiting for a decision.

Twice during the evening the jurors called for exhibits, and then returned to court to ask for added instructions on the evidence in the longest murder case on record which they received from Judge Kenneth Morrison at 4:16 p. m. yesterday, 74 trial days after it began May 26.

It wanted the small scale model of the blasted Overell yacht, the Mary E, and pictures showing the prosecution's version of where Walter E. Overell, Los Angeles financier, was situated at the time of the explosion last March 15.

Then at 11:15 p. m., it reentered the crowded court room as defendants and attorneys were brought in, and asked about the controverted testimony of a prosecution witness.

Before the jury quit for the night at 11:53 p. m., the foreman, Jay A. Porter, Orange, Calif., rancher, wanted to know "whether false testimony given before the grand jury may be considered in this case." Judge Morrison replied that the testimony Dr. John J. Montanus, a state expert witness, gave before the grand jury which indicted the defendants, was admitted in the present trial "solely in reflecting upon his credibility as a witness. "It may be used solely for the purpose of impeaching the witness," the court held.

Public interest in the trial, which has engrossed this orange belt area, continued last night. Automobiles closely parked on both sides of the four blocks surrounding the red sandstone court house gave the city a gala Saturday night appearance, and the court room was packed with a curious crowd that overflowed into the attorneys' enclosure.

Freight Rate Ruling Expected in 10 Days

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—The Interstate commerce commission is expected to act within the next 10 days on the appeal of the nation's railroads for an emergency 10 per cent increase in freight rates.

Although commission members are not commenting pending their decision, it is believed that the 10 per cent increase will be granted in view of higher operating costs to the carriers. The railroads asked for the emergency 10 per cent boost pending an ICC decision on thier request for an overall 27 per cent increase.

Citizen Group Starts Move For Roxie Green Memorial

Prospect citizens who took an active part in the search for Roxie Ann Green today announced plans for providing a memorial for the slain girl.

A committee has been named to accept contributions to provide a headstone for Roxie's grave as a mark of respect from the entire community.

The committee includes Rev. Ralph W. Knoop, Dale Sparks, C. O. Laucher and George Pugh. Mr. Pugh will act as secretary and treasurer. All were members of the committee which had been formed to raise a reward fund for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Roxie's slayer.

Ray A. Shappard of Prospect confessed the crime to Sheriff LeRoy Retterer before the reward was officially posted.

Members of the committee said today it was hoped to raise at least $200 for the marker at Roxie's grave in Marion cemetery. She was buried there Wednesday morning after funeral services at the Hughes Mortuary here.

Contributions will be received by Mr. Sparks at his store in the Prospect business district. Rev. Knoop at the Methodist parsonage at 201 North Elm street and Mr. Laucher at the C. and O. station. Mr. Pugh is president of the Prospect Citizens Bank.

In common pleas court here this morning it was reported the special grand jury considering a first degree murder charge against Shappard will report the results of its findings after 1 p. m. Tuesday.

The grand jury will convene at 1 p. m. to finish up a few remaining details and then make its report. The jury is not in session today.

AMVETS REQUEST UN TO ELIMINATE VETO

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 4—Elimination of the veto power from the United Nations structure was asked today by American Veterans of World War II in a committee report that asserted Russia was "using the United Nations as a means of perpetuating political and economic chaos."

The report of the peace and preparedness committee was adopted yesterday following a speech by Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz who declared the United States must maintain an adequate military defense.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, veterans administration head, was on the program for the principal address at today's session of the third national AMVET convention.

The report of the peace and preparedness committee declared: "Russia is using the UN as a means of perpetuating political and economic chaos to the end that communism be spread more readily among the dissatisfied and the despairing."

The United States was asked in the report to "initiate proper action to eliminate absolute veto power within the United Nations structure."

Resentment over Russian refusal to admit U. S. senators and congressmen for tours was expressed and the United States was asked to "maintain military strength until UN policy power is a reality."

The report asserted "the prime responsibility for success of the UN" rests on the United States.

Brig. Gen. George A. Horkan, head of the repatriation program for World War II dead, said it would require two or three weeks to return the dead to home communities after the first ship docks at San Francisco Oct. 10.

"Care and effort have been taken to assure identification," he said.

Voter Registration Short 2,000 As Deadline Nears

Only today and Monday remain for voter registration and transfers in Marion. The board of elections office in the Marion Federal Savings and Loan building will be open from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m. today and Monday.

About 100 persons registered yesterday and 35 transferred precincts, Mrs. Nora Fetter, deputy clerk, reported. Business at the board of elections was brisk this morning, she said.

Last year a peak of 18,000 Marion voters were registered, but the figure fell to 15,000 this year after the board dropped some 3,000 from its lists in January. Most of those dropped had failed to vote in two years and must re-register before voting this November, Mrs. Fetter said. At least 2,000 should register today and Monday to bring the voting strength to normal, she said.

Persons who have become 21 since the election last year, voters who have not voted in two years, and voters who have moved into Marion must register in order to qualify for voting in the November election. Marion voters who have moved to a different precinct must transfer their registration before they can vote again.

Former Newsboys, Now Famous, Salute U. S. Paper Carriers

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4—The nation's newspaper boys got a salute today of newspaper boy day from 9 prominent Americans who started out as paper carriers themselves.

They included Associate Justice William O. Douglas, Governors Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Earl Warren of California and Mon C. Wallgren of Washington, Senators Wagner (D-NY), Morse (R-Ore) and Lucas (D-Ill), Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler, and Charles Luckman, head of the citizens food committee.

They joined the American Newspaper Publishers association, the International Circulation Managers association and the treasury department in hailing the carriers through the advertising columns of several hundred newspapers.

The treasury's national newspaper boys committee, headed by Howard W. Stodghill, business manager of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, numbers more than 50,000 newspaper boys as members of thrift clubs.

NEW PETITION SENT TO CAB

Reconsideration of Rule Barring Eastern Airlines Is Asked of Board.

The city of Marion has filed a petition with the civil aeronautics board seeking reconsideration of the application of Eastern Airlines to operate a north-south service through Marion.

The CAB had previously provided Marion with air service on three Transcontinental and Western Airlines routes, two north-south and the other east and west. All other applications were refused by the board.

The city petition is similar to petitions filed with the CAB by Eastern Airlines seeking reconsideration of its case, and by Columbus, also seeking Eastern Airlines service north and south.

The city of Marion requests that the board certificate Eastern Airlines to operate a north south service through Marion to Cleveland on the north and Cincinnati and Louisville and the many cities served by that carrier to the south.

The petition states: "We have consistently supported the application of Eastern because we believe that that carrier offers the type of north-south service that Marion needs."

While acknowledging that the certification of Marion on three separate routes by the CAB is "gratifying," the petition goes on to point out that although certificated east-west service will adequately meet Marion's needs, north south service would terminate at Cincinnati or Louisville under the present arrangement. The inconvenience of a change of planes and carriers by passengers flying into the southern areas beyond will naturally handicap the maximum development of north south air traffic through Marion, the petition claims.

Reconsideration Asked

It is also pointed out that since the present routes certificated are earmarked for permanancy rather than a temporary service subject to change later on, reconsideration of the board decision in respect to Eastern Airlines is asked at this time.

Further, the petition contends that Eastern Airlines would provide greater public benefits to Marion and other cities that would be serviced by that carrier than United Airlines which at present operates a Cleveland-Louisville route. The CAB based its refusal of Eastern Airlines application in part on the fact that a duplication of service would result if Eastern were granted a through route north-south paralleling that of United Airlines.

The present service certificated Transcontinental and Western Airlines through Marion is as follows: east-west, TWA route 2, Peoria-Chicago-Pittsburgh—segment, which will include these cities as intermediate stops, Ft. Wayne, Ind., Lima, Marion and Mansfield; North-South—Indianapolis-Dayton segment of route 2 extended to Cleveland serving these cities as intermediate stops, Springfield, Marion and Mansfield; also north-south, change in TWA route 56, Dayton to Toledo providing intermediate stops at Columbus and Marion.

The decision of the CAB on airline service in this area was contained in what was called by the board "the Great Lakes Area Case," the final decision being given by that body Sept. 3.

Airline service throughout an area comprising states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, termed by the board as one of the most highly industrialized and most agriculturally productive sections of the United States, was considered on an overall basis rather than from the point of supplying particular municipalities or sections within that area with air service. There were 21 different airlines ranging from the major airlines to small carriers in the process of organization seeking to operate either passenger or freight air service in the area.

Policy of Board

The extent of the proceeding and the complex nature of the service proposed by the applicants led the board to adopt the policy of discussing the applications of existing carriers (the major airlines) first. The board called attention to the fact that it was required to consider overall need of air service by the cities in question rather than the needs of any particular applicant. The board stated that it went into the special needs of individual cities, and in a number of cases authorized existing carriers to perform needed service to cities not previously certificated. This was true in the case of Marion.

Marion cashed in on the board's findings that a direct route be-

"WHEREAS the City of Marion has productive power in the talents and abilities of its physically limited potential workers, who, being good citizens, are desirous of serving with their utmost efforts and abilities within their community; and

"WHEREAS the community of Marion will continue to witness a substantial loss to its productive capacities if this source is unused; and

22 REELECTION FIGHTS SEEN

All Incumbent Ohio Congressmen Expected To Seek Another Term.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 — The 1948 presidential year should find 22 Ohio house members striving for reelection, barring a change of mind or unforeseen events.

The state's 23rd seat is vacant because of the appointment of the Fourth district's Robert F. Jones to the federal communications commission.

All incumbents have indicated their intention to seek another term.

Senators Taft and Bricker aren't up for reelection this time, although Taft intends to campaign on a countrywide scale if he decides to seek the Republican presidenital nomination. He says he will make up his mind after his western speaking tour.

Among the first to start his congressional campaign was Rep. Edward O. McCowen (R) of the Sixth district, who already has been endorsed by the local party organization which recommended his renomination without opposition.

McCowen, former school teacher and student of government, is serving his third term.

The state's only freshman congressman, Raymond H. Burke (R), will tryfor a second term in the Third district.

George H. Bender (R) as usual will campaign on a statewide level. He is serving his fifth term as representative-at-large.

Other house members and their service are Charles H. Elston (R) First district, fifth term; William E. Hess (R), second district; ninth; Cliff Clevenger (R), Fifth district, fifth; Clarence J. Brown (R), Seventh district, fifth; Frederick C. Smith (R), eighth district, fifth; Homer A. Ramey (R), Ninth district, third; Thomas A. Jenkins (R), Tenth district; twelfth; Walter E. Brehm (R), Eleventh district, third; John M. Vorys (R), Twelfth district, fifth; Alvin F. Weichel (R), Thirteenth district, third; Walter B. Huber (R), Fourteenth district, second; P. W. Griffiths (R), Fifteenth district, third; Henderson H. Carson (R), Sixteenth district, second; J. Harry McGregor (R), Seventeenth district, Fifth; Earl R. Lewis (R), Eighteenth district, fifth; Michael J. Kirwan (D), Nineteenth district, sixth; Michael A. Feighan, (D), Twentieth district, third; Robert Crosser (D), Twenty-first district, Sixteenth term; Frances P. Bolton (R), Twenty-Second district, fifth.

The political line-up of the Ohio representation has been almost reversed during the last 10 years. In 1937 there were only two Republicans, Rep. Jenkins and former Rep. Dudley White.

This compares with the 18 Republicans and four Democrats representing the state now.

Jones also was a Republican.

Cincinnati's Mayor Asked To Proclaim 2 "Meatless" Days

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 4 — Cincinnati housewives will be asked to leave meat off their menus two days a week if Mayor Carl Rich accepts a suggestion of the Cincinnati Consumers Conference, a group active in efforts to curb rising food costs.

"We are going to ask Mayor Rich to issue a proclamation asking Cincinnatians to observe two meatless days each week," Mrs. Dennis E. Jackson, conference president, announced Thursday. She said she would suggest Tuesdays and Fridays.

She added, however, that "we wouldn't think of supporting any proposal to make that a law. It would be too hard to enforce. But the mayor can help to influence public opinion."

Mrs. Jackson reported that the conference was continuing its telephone campaign of asking housewives to buy no butter, eggs only for mixed dishes and as little and as cheap meat as possible.

Oscar Ross, a director of the Cincinnati Restaurant association, said his organization would consider a proposal that eating places offer "combination dishes"—stews, pot pies and meat loaf—one or two days a week as a move to avoid increasing the price of meals.

"We would be glad to see restaurant operators co-operate," Mrs. Jackson commented.

Forest Man Elected To Ayrshire Association

The unanimous election of Merritt H. Rose of Forest to membership in the Ayrshire Breeders' association has been announced by National Secretary C. T. Conklin of Brandon, Vt. The ancestors of Mr. Rose's herd of dairy cows trace back to the heather-covered hills of County Ayr, Scotland, from which the breed derives its name. There are now more than 20,000 herds of Ayrshires in the United States.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Tetanus Injections

Mothers are sometimes puzzled, and even a little annoyed, when the doctor insists that the child who has stepped on a nail or received some trifling scratch must immediately be given a shot of something which will almost surely make him a little sick, and not infrequently quite sick.

The injury seems so small, the inconvenience so great, that they are inclined to feel the physician is making too much fuss about nothing.

But doctors know what mothers sometimes do not—the horrors of the grave disease called tetanus, or lockjaw, and that it can be warded off by timely injections of tetanus antitoxin. But these must be given early enough.

The germs which cause tetanus live in soil. They cannot survive in the presence of oxygen. Hence, as a rule, tetanus develops from wounds which go deep into the tissues, such as puncture wounds from dirty nails or those made by an animal's tearing claws, or following burns.

The tetanus germs work on the nervous system, causing spasm of the muscles and even convulsions. Spasm is particularly severe in the jaw muscles which become locked and rigid. It is from this spasm of the jaw muscles that the disease gets its popular name of lockjaw.

In former years, almost one-half of the patients who contracted the disease died. Early treatment has improved so much recently that the number of deaths has been cut to about one-fourth, but, even if the patient lives, he has still undergone a frightful ordeal.

Tetanus may develop anywhere from a few days to a month or more after the injury occurs. Usually, the shorter the period before the disease develops, the more seriously ill the patient. It is significant that many patients can recall no injury through which the infection may have got into the body. This indicates not only that a considerable time may elapse before the infection takes hold, but that it may come from wounds so slight as not to be remembered.

For this reason, all children should be protected against the disease by injections of tetanus toxoid, given at the age of about 18 months, or sooner, after their protective shots against diphtherin. Some doctors even advocate that a booster dose of toxoid should be used every two years.

If a wound of the sort which makes for tetanus occurs, another booster dose should be given at once. Even in those who have not been so protected, the disease can be warded off by an immediate injection of tetanus antitoxin.

Once the disease develops, patients are kept in a darkened room under the influence of sedatives, to reduce nervous irritation and convulsions. Tetanus antitoxin is started at once by injections into a vein or a muscle. The amount given depends on the severity of the symptoms. Penicillin gives a fine weapon against the lung infection which sometimes develops in this disorder.

Sometimes the teanus antitoxin is administered by injection into a vein or into the spinal canal. Many do not believe that either of these methods should be employed.

The reason is, that sometimes injection into a vein may produce a severe reaction, while the use of the antitoxin by injection into the spinal canal produces an inflammation over the lining membrane of the brain and spinal cord and this may add to the patient's discomfort and decrease his chances of recovery.

Medal Winner Shows Heroism in Peacetime

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

CARROLL, Ia.—The war didn't ... Ralph Neppel a leg of his ... to stand on, but he has less ... less than any ex-soldier I ... met.

He is a tanned, stocky farm ... who lost both legs in a bat... action in Germany that won ... the nation's highest heorism ...—the Congressional Medal ...—and he thinks life has ... good to him.

"People treat me okay," he said. ... have nothing ... sorry for. ... to feel a ... funny some... — because ... so much ... a break ... a lot of ... fellows did ... came back."

Hal Boyle

The people of ... contributed $50,000 to start ... off again in ... life with ... home of his ... and a nestegg. Uncle Sam ... him a new pair of legs, ... car and a pension. He married ... childhood sweetheart, Jean, ... they have a plump brown-eyed daughter eight months old.

He sturdily has refused to let the fact he is an amputee affect ... mental outlook. When he got his first pair of artificial legs, he said:

"I just want to see the look on the face of the first dog that bites me."

Beer Label on Leg

He pasted a beer label on each leg and told friends with a grin:

"The company pays me a quarter a day to advertise their beer."

Now he can walk as much as five blocks without using a cane or halting to rest. He works part-time selling electrical appliances and driving a tractor on his mother's farm. He wants most of all to get a job delivering rural mail.

"I've wanted to do that all my life," he said, "ever since I was a small boy on a farm. There's an exam coming up soon, but there'll probably be 30 or 40 other veterans apply, too. If I don't make it—well, I'll just try something else."

He likes to mow the lawn and do other home chores—he even helps with the wash — to keep down his weight, which has climbed 25 pounds since his return from hospitals where he underwent seven operations.

"He's real handy around the house," said his wife. They still like to dance but Ralph said he had given up jitterbugging. Not because of his artificial underpinning—that doesn't stop him.

"I'm just getting too old for that kind of thing," he said gravely. "I'll be 24 this hallowe'en."

Rarely Thinks of Wound

His mind rarely goes back now to that day in December, 1944, near Bergel, Germany, when, both legs blown off by a tank shell, he dragged himself back to his machinegun, killed 20 attacking German infantrymen and routed a Nazi tank.

"Once in a while I have a dream," he said, "and I get a ringing in my ears like someone rang a bell near me—but that's all.

"What I do think of often though is what has happened to the wounded soldiers of other armies—the Germans and the Russians and the others. I know they haven't been treated as well as we have."

First Program in Concert Series Set for Tuesday

With the first program of the series of musical concerts sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club scheduled for Tuesday night, the members are on the home stretch to reach their goal of a "sell out" for the series. Just how well the Jackie Krumholtz Foundation for Lukemia Research and the Marion City hospital fare, depends on the success of the ticket sale, Miss Martha Fabian, general chairman, said today. The proceeds of the ticket sale will be shared with these two worthwhile institutions, the sponsors state. Only 650 tickets, the capacity of the Edison Junior High school where the concerts will be given, are being placed on sale.

Tuesday night's concert will be a costume program of musical favorites presented by John Hurley, tenor, Boris Zlatich, violinist, Eleanor Warner, soprano, Elaine Mark, dancer and Stephanie Novicky, pianist. Piero Pierotic, baritone, will be presented on the second concert program on Oct. 21. The remaining two concerts are scheduled for Nov. 4 and Nov. 18.

Miss Fabian will be at the office of the Economy Loan Co. on East Center street until 9 p. m. on Monday to receive reports of ticket sales and also at this time, persons not having purchased tickets may obtain them there.

An entertaining program will be presented on the opening night of the series, and will include some of the best known works of famous composers in opera and operetta. The program will be presented in costume.

Miriam Marmein, dancer, musician and designer, will be presented on the Nov. 4 program and the Nov. 18 program will bring the Rizzo accordion quartet.

Couple To Observe Golden Wedding

MR. AND MRS. MARION BERRY

CARDINGTON—Mr. and Mrs. Marion Berry will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with open house from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. at their home south of Cardington.

In a double ceremony Oct. 6, 1897, at the home of the bride's parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Case of Fairview, Miss Etta Case became the bride of Marion Berry and Miss Clara Oller, niece of Mrs. Case, became the bride of Torfy Skinner. Rev. J. H. Teater conducted the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry have lived their entire married life on the farm where they now reside with the exception of nine years when they lived west of Ashley. Mr. Berry is 78 and Mrs. Berry 74. They have a daughter Mrs. Ernest Burggraf and two grandsons, Donald and David Burggraf of Cardington.

Weddings

The home of the bride's parents was the scene of the wedding Sunday, Sept. 7, of Miss Alice Louise Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rogers of north of Edison, to John Conrad White, son of Mrs. Mildred Longshore of Mt. Gilead. The single ring ceremony was read at 2 o'clock in the afternoon by Rev. W. W. Loveless, pastor of the Nazarene church in Mt. Gilead.

For her wedding, the bride chose a blue street length dress with white accessories and a corsage of white mums. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Doris Pennington. She was attired in a blue street length dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

John Rogers, brother of the bride, served as best man.

A reception for 30 guests was held following the ceremony with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom centering the table.

Mrs. White attended Edison High school and Mr. White attended the Ostrander and Mt. Gilead High schools. He served 18 months in the Army with eight months of that time in the Pacific. He is now employed at the Westinghouse plant in Mansfield. The couple are making their home in Mt. Gilead.

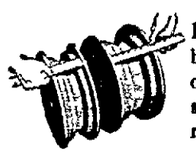
Softer Miles and Safer Miles

..Thanks to Buick's Safety-Ride rims

YOU sense it right from the first in the way your Buick handles.

You feel it not only in the cloud-soft ride of this big beauty, but in the way it seems to lean into the curves, the way it holds its "track," answers unfailingly to your touch on the wheel.

The reason? Simply that even before the war, Buick found a way to get greater softness and greater safety from standard-size tires that are available anywhere.



Put a Buick wheel beside a wheel from other cars, and you see at once that Buick rims are wider.

In fact, they are an inch to an inch and a half wider — from 20% to 33%.

By this simple step, standard-size tires of any make are given greater air capacity. This permits lower air pressure and the softer ride that naturally comes from traveling on 25 pounds instead of 30.

In addition, widening the base of the tires gives bracing against side-thrust, as your legs brace you when you stand with feet apart. This checks sidesway and the tendency of a tire to "roll under" on sharp or fast turns.

Furthermore, the tread is flattened. More rubber is put on the road. More rubber means more traction — more braking power — more resistance to skidding — far, far better car control.

And you have only to compare the handling of a Buick with any other car to see the result. . . .

You travel with a soft, level buoyancy that is Buick's own.

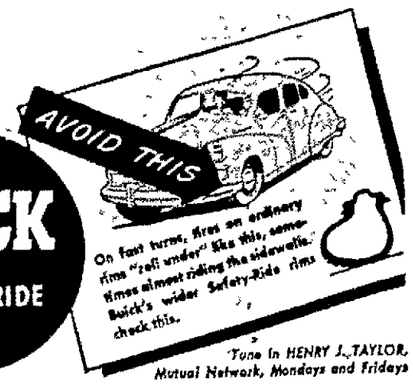
You seem to feel your car leaning into the curves, like a race horse coming into the stretch, instead of swaying outward.

You come out of fast emergency swerves straight and true, with no wheel fight to keep your car on course.

You start, stop, accelerate and turn with a sure-footedness that keeps driving tension away, lets you enjoy Buick's soft comfort to the full.

And all this has been true of every Buick built since before the war, with no change in factory-installed tires.

Check up and see. For a softer ride that is also a safer and surer one — get your order in now for a Buick. We'll take it whether or not you have a car to trade.



AVOID THIS
On fast turns, tires on ordinary rims "roll under" like this, sometimes almost riding the sidewalls. Buick's wider Safety-Ride rims check this.

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, Mutual Network, Mondays and Fridays

There's more rubber on the road with Safety-Ride rims. Result: More traction, better braking, better car control, more skid prevention.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1947

Black Chapter, One Bright Spot

THIS week has rounded out a 10-week chapter in Marion county's history which is unquestionably without a parallel in the community's past The hope of all its residents is that the future will bring no comparable chain of happenings.

Written in glaring newspaper headlines and detailed accounts, the chapter tells of two murders and the 80-hour disappearance of a 20-month-old child, with finding of the child alive and safe the only cheerful development in the unprecedented 10 weeks of drama and tragedy.

The three happenings placed Marion county on the front pages of newspapers throughout the country as well as in nationwide radio broadcasts. It was not the sort of news that is good advertising for a community, although the happy outcome of the disappearance of 20-month-old Carolyn Peterson did end the fear that another crime might mar Marion county's usually clear record. For a brief time news wires had carried a report that the child had been kidnaped, a report which soon gave way to the joyous announcement of her recovery.

But the two murders remain in the record only 10 weeks apart and that in itself is a circumstance justifying public concern. It has led many persons here and elsewhere to ask: "What is wrong in Marion county?"

The answer undoubtedly is that nothing is wrong in this county any more than there is in all other communities throughout the country where some men of low moral standards and uncontrolled emotions live among decent, law-abiding people. These undesirables have been present to burden and menace communities of good people since the beginning of time and probably always will be. In most localities, such as Marion county, they are a small minority, but none the less dangerous. They are a minority against whom the good people must be constantly on guard, which calls for unceasing vigilance on the part of both citizens and law enforcement officers.

The fact that these sensational developments came within such a brief period of time is, of course, the cause of the public's feeling of concern and alarm. That feeling is understandable. Yet it's not at all likely that Marion county is going to get the reputation of being a spot made dangerous by criminal activities. Two sensational murders within 10 weeks is a record that is bad, to say the least, but it's virtually certain that nothing like it will occur again in a long, long time, if ever. So we sincerely hope and believe.

If Marion and Marion county are to be in the national spotlight, we want it to be from news that tells of something better than crime. This can be given some assurance of fulfillment if all of us, citizens as well as public authorities, join in a common effort to encourage and support all that is good for the community and to hold down to an absolute minimum everything which tends to lower moral standards and provide breeding places for crime.

No Caribbean D-Day

CUBA has nipped the well-advertised plot for launching of a 1,500-man invasion force to overthrow President Trujillo, who has a tight little dictatorship over the Dominican republic on the neighboring island of Haiti.

Since July there had been reports of this invasion plot. The first news came from officials of the Trujillo government. Reports from the island said the president was worried, frequently going down to the shore at night to stare out to sea. News that Cuba has seized the plotters should quiet the leader's fears for the moment.

Although charges of dictatorship are vehemently denied by Trujillo's Washington spokesmen, there is preponderant evidence that the island government is in absolutist hands. The Dominican government has survived this plot against it. That doesn't mean there won't be others or that there shouldn't be.

The Marshal Writes a Book

EVER since the allied Normandy campaign, military writers have been analyzing it and conjecturing as to how it could have carried to swifter completion. In the American analyses the British commander, Field Marshal Montgomery, has come in for pointed criticism.

Montgomery answers his critics in "from Normandy to the Baltic." Commenting on his contribution to the annals of World War II, he says: "Various books have been written about the Normandy war and the Falaise battle in which things have been said, a great many of which are untrue and some of which are true. I wrote a book about it myself which has the great merit of being true."

To judge from the dogmatic tone of his evaluation, we can be sure the field marshal doesn't give himself any the worst of it. What is true and what is not true depend a great deal on what section of the stands you're sitting in. We're finding that out in our word battles with Russia.

That Unnecessary Tax Veto

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Now Shown Taxes Should Have Been Cut.

PRESIDENT Truman's clear and sensible statement of European needs puts real responsibility on the Republican leaders of congress. He asks for no commitment to the wider implications of the Marshall plan. He refuses to try to find a way of getting the money without the consent of congress. This evidence of the President's strict interpretation of his constitutional power is reassuring, after the many years during which the powers of the RFC and other agencies were used to spend money which should have been specifically appropriated by congress.

Found "In The Cupboard"

The figures which the President now gives us provide the following pattern:

Stop-gap aid should be provided only to April 1. For the expenses of occupation, $660,000,000 is needed, but that is already appropriated in the military budget. The President has found $332,000,000 tucked away in the cupboard. In addition, he needs authorization for an expenditure of $550,000,000. This would first be approved by appropriate committees of congress, and then a quick special session could be called to vote the money.

While this modest request can hardly be refused by Republican leaders, the President has inferentially made two very interesting admissions. The first is that the essential needs of Europe for the winter and spring are much less than some of the President's official subordinates have been predicting. The need, in short, may be critical, but it is not immediately great.

The second inferential admission is that European needs have proved to be too small to have justified the President's veto of tax reduction.

Cut In Half

If we add up all the estimated needs, up to July 1, 1948, the cost will be something over $2,000,000,000. Hence, instead of $5,000,000,000, which was the favorite figure a month ago in Washington, the need for the ensuing year will not be much over half that.

The only real argument the President had in vetoing the tax-reduction bill is completely nullified by the figures now available. The amount necessary for European relief is small in comparison with the surplus now in sight from increased tax receipts. Republicans can well claim a decided advantage in foresight. Had the President been as strict a constitutionalist in dealing with the tax bill as he now shows himself to be in seeking funds, he would have permitted congress to make the tax cut, with or without his approval. Taxpayers can now draw what satisfaction they can, as they pay over dollars to the treasury which their government does not need.

They Take Things Easy In Texas

A Fort Worth couple has been married after a 45-year courtship.

Nobody can accuse them of being young and impetuous.

He said his love would endure forever and it was beginning to look as though she were going to make him prove it.

Yes sir, if that match fails, nobody can say it's because they married in haste.

Even those who believe in long engagements are apt to find this one overdone.

Still, a lot of young people rush into matrimony without considering the financial aspects. And this pair will always have their social security to rely on.

Germans Admit Black Market Trade

By The Associated Press

BERLIN—In the British occupation zone, which is one of the hungriest sections of Germany, between 77 and 85 per cent of the Germans admit that they are buying or scrounging food over and above their official ration of 1,550 calories daily. This was disclosed by a poll.

In Hamburg 85 per cent said they were getting food in addition to the official issue and in the province of Schleswig-Holstein 77 per cent made a similar admission.

The official survey observed: "Money has grown shorter. Expendable articles such as jewelry and textiles and clothing, which might have been sold have become worn out or useless. Black market prices are falling, indicating a new phase in impoverishment."

City Sales Tax to the Rescue

San Francisco Latest To Adopt Local Levy.

THE 67 or more U. S. cities levying local sales taxes collect approximately $75,000,000 annually, the Municipal Finance Officers Association reports.

With adoption of a local sales tax by San Francisco in July, four cities of more than 500,000 population alone collect $65,000,000 a year from levies on retail sales. Virtually all the smaller cities imposing sales taxes are in California.

The San Francisco tax of one-half of one per cent is expected to yield $6,000,000 a year. Los Angeles' tax at the same rate yields an estimated $7,000,000. New York's 2 per cent tax accounted for more than $46,400,000 last year. The New Orleans 2 per cent levy yields about $6,000,000.

Acting under recent state legislation broadening local tax powers, Erie county, N. Y., has adopted a retail sales tax, exempting food, drugs, medicine, newspapers, and water. Revenues from the tax will be earmarked for local school districts.

The Association observes that these figures show how a depression-born local tax, devised to help cities weather relief needs, has become a mainstay of municipal finance. Mounting financial needs of cities puts new emphasis on local sales tax proposals throughout the country.

Atlantic City, N. J., also recently adopted a local tax on retail sales. Numerous other cities impose levies which though not direct sales levies are in the same category. In Missouri where state law prohibits local sales taxes, St. Louis and Kansas City levy "privilege" taxes based on gross business receipts.

Several cities including Richmond, Tampa, Wheeling, Harrisburg and Sacramento impose business license taxes which are computed as a percentage of gross sales and therefore have nearly the same effect as local sales taxes. Salt Lake City, Roanoke, and Columbus, Ga., are among cities levying gross receipts taxes of a similar character.

Warden Rescues Ton of Black Bass

By The Associated Press

OAKDALE, Calif.—Game Warden Gus Geibel wishes they had built the outlet tunnel of the Woodland reservoir differently.

It's 200 feet long and 10 feet high, and when they shut off the water flow recently Geibel had to go to the rescue of more than a ton of black bass stranded in the water left in the tunnel.

Garbed in a rubber suit, he pulled one end of a net along while helpers in a boat pulled the other. The first drag netted 750 bass weighing more than two pounds on the average.

It took the rest of that day to plant them in nearby streams.

The next day the rescue squad got 350 bass, and hopes now the tunnel is fished out for good.

Bret Harte Fans Would Scrap McKinley

By The Associated Press

ARCATA, Calif.—Arcatans are claiming the famed early California writer Bret Harte as a native son, and some want his statue to replace that of President McKinley that has stood in Arcata's central plaza for half a century.

Harte lived here from 1857 to 1860, memorial sponsors say, and did much of his early writing here. He edited the weekly newspaper of old Uniontown, now Arcata.

And after all, they argue, he lived only six months in the gold-mining mother-lode country which also claims him as a native.

Yankee Automobiles Are Picking on Him

GEORGETOWN, S. C. — The Confederate soldier atop the stocky memorial monument here leads a tough life.

He has been damaged by crashing automobiles four times during the past five years.

One collision was so severe he required a complete replacement. That brought more trouble, because the replacement inadvertently was clothed in a Federal uniform. A change was effected quickly.

Newsboy Keeps Family Tradition Alive

By The Associated Press

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—The Green family has a hand in the country's oldest newspaper again.

In 1745 Jonas Green, the "Printer to the Province," revived the Maryland Gazette. The newspaper had lapsed after being founded in 1727. Green continued to publish the Gazette until he died in 1767.

Today 13-year-old Edgar Scott Bowers, a descendant of Green, is a newsboy for the Capital-Gazette Press, which publishes both the weekly Gazette and the daily Evening Capital.

The boy lives in the same colonial home which Green occupied.

Tooting Our Own Horn

By FRANK TRIPP

WE ARE in the midst of Newspaper week. The umbrella makers, banana growers and everybody had a week so the newspapers got themselves one. It's the time of year they blow their own horn—so I join the band.

Throughout the year newspapers blow the other fellow's horn. They bring the darling babies into the world; graduate them from schools; marry them off as charming brides and promising bridegrooms.

They back and ballyhoo our favorite charities and activities. They support civic leadership; many times set the pace.

They keep the wheels of community progress turning; without them most local endeavors would fall flat.

They are the watchdog of events which keeps straight the wayward guardians of the public peace and cashbox.

They guard the health, safety and comfort of our homes. They speak up for us, and are listened to, when our little voice would not be heard.

Finally they bury those they heralded into the world, followed through childhood, chronicled through life, praised, petted, pampered or panned.

Most always with glowing tributes which repose in the family scrapbook; the final chapter of that part of history which is paramount to us—our own lives.

This week newspapers are bragging about themselves.

Now a newspaper knows it has enemies; in fact knows who most of them are. No institution which deals with all men can stand for anything and please everybody.

No day passes that a newspaper doesn't step on somebody's toes. If it didn't it wouldn't be a newspaper and we wouldn't read it.

Neither does a day pass that our newspaper doesn't do something important for us. Though it fire us with wrath in one column, it may move us to compassion in another; inspire our gratitude in still another.

In its entirety the newspaper is a record of our lives: a composite expression of the freedom we enjoy.

Because it is the mirror which reflects the efficiency and exposes the inefficiency of every agency charged with safeguarding our existence.

If there were no free newspapers to record facts in permanent print, to perpetuate the record for posterity, all of that which combines to create our liberty could vanish before we even knew it was in jeopardy.

That is the route by which great nations have fallen.

These things being true, our individual disagreements with a newspaper shrink to insignificance compared with the newspaper's mission and its function in our democracy.

Our attitude toward our newspaper therefore can assume many forms at the same time. Few of us completely agree with our newspaper.

We should not confuse our animosity for a newspaper's policy, a certain activity, a particular editor or person, with the big and all-important fact that every newspaper is a wakeful sentry and benefactor of us all.

It was Emerson who said of newspapers, "—— remember they are made for everybody, and don't try to get what isn't meant for you." He used the word get in the sense of understanding and agreement.

So when we disagree with our newspaper we should do so without passion. When we are tempted to wreak our personal vengeance in missives to the editor; words we dare him to print, but know he cannot, we should remember:

That one policy, one thought, one activity of a newspaper, one man or one editor of it, yes, even a dozen such, do not constitute the socially important thing we call a newspaper.

When we try to put a newspaper on the spot because we do not like one phase of it, we emulate the fool who would burn the house to rid it of its vermin.

We of the newspaper know, with you, that we have vermin in our house.

Yet we know too that sailors won't ship on a craft that all the rats have deserted.

He surrounds us with love and care from infancy to old age. The home should be a happy hallowed place, do not dishonor it: "God setteth the solitary in families."—Ps. 68-6.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Investment Brokers and Baseball

NOT long ago it was reported that three investment brokerage firms had bid $3,000,000 for a half interest in the New York Yankees. A lot of folks have been looking into their holdings in Steel Motors and du Pont ever since to make up their minds whether these issues can really stand up as good investments on the pitching they are getting.

* * *

We went over every stock in our portfolio, and it didn't seem to us that any one of them had the color and stability that comes with association with October classics. Murderers Row and night baseball.

Our broker was not very helpful. "Standard Oil is good," he said, "but it is no DiMaggio."

"Chrysler is a fast mover," he went on thoughtfully, "but it lacks a good farm system for developing new blood."

The more we think of it the more we wonder whether the rush by investment brokers to buy into pennant winners may not mark a new era in investment values and yardsticks. It seems entirely possible that an uncle who leaves an heir 100 shares of "Dem Bums, Common," will be widely cheered and that the papers may soon be carrying the story of the husband who in getting a separation, settled a big block of Yankee Pfd. on the lady.

There may be a new baseball lingo: "The Cardinals are okay but they need a debenture issue to bolster 'em up next season." Are them Red Sox didn't have a chance in the stretch run the way them minority stockholders was fumbling. "The Giants? They won't be a good buy until they are refinanced and new bonds issued with a more attractive interest rate and two-new pitchers."

Elmer Twitchell says he expects in another season or two to read sports items like these streaming from the ticker:

"According to reliable information an entirely new team to be floated for the Boston Braves by Peabody, Winch & Sulsberger.

"Weber, Halstrom, Snickersham & Winch have been called in to finance a southpaw and a good hitting left fielder by the Giants.

"THE SEC, which has replaced Happy Chandler, is investigating a sharp break in batting averages in both leagues. Illegal pool action, short selling by insiders and the breaking of training rules by certain baseball assets are being blamed."

Personally we are awaiting a circular from our broker saying "We recommend the purchase of this stock without hesitation. Entirely eliminating the profits from night games alone, it is bound to have a big year. In our opinion nothing can undermine its earning capacity or threaten its dividends except a complete collapse in hitting. This investment has behind it the best pitching since Dizzy Dean. Our suggestion that you buy this security and add it to your holdings of box scores."

Borrowed Time

By TRUMAN TWILL

It's puzzling when you think about it that nothing's ever done about the universal impulse to maim or kill whistlers, hummers, finger and foot tappers.

Here's a sample from a letter that might have been written by any one of millions of citizens teetering on the ragged edge of a nervous breakdown:

"Working for a living is dumb if you have a perpetual whistler working next to you. He whistles through his teeth with his mouth in a death grin. He whistles shrill and off-key, gives you imitations of birds the Lord never thought of and holds second place for endurance I hold first.

"The 'death wish' psychiatrists talk about looms large. You can think of several pleasant ways a guy just might kick off—with a little help. You could grind him up and feed him to the hogs, if any self-respecting hog would touch him, or you might put him in a kiln (I'm a potter) and blow him off. Or you might just kick his teeth in and let it go at that."

This kind of unhealthy feeling about pests, is more widespread than it's comfortable to think about. There are people who suck their teeth, day in and day out, year in and year out. No one ever murders them, but millions think about it—day in and day out.

Or take snifflers, as unsavory a lot as you'd find in a trip around the world. Life in their vicinity is a horrible state of suspense, waiting for the time they'll forget to sniffle. Millions have stifled the impulse to blow the snifflers' moist noses—hard!

All knuckle-poppers are lucky to be brought home alive. The earnest glances they intercept—they are from earnest people wondering what it would sound like if the knuckle-poppers were tied in one 10-ton truck and their knuckles to another one moving away from each other at 28 miles an hour.

Or consider finger and foot tappers, the squareheads that get rid of their nervous energy by vibrating at the pedal extremities. We knew a fellow once that hid two ice picks up his sleeve and pinned down a finger tapper fair and square through the back of his hand. Then he pinned down the second hand with the other ice pick and left him there to think it over. That's what could happen to all finger tappers. Foot-tappers could be shot through the ankles with high-powered rifles.

Gum snappers, eyeball-rubbers, hummers, suspender-snappers, pencil-crunchers, goofs that talk to themselves, even chair-squeakers a relatively harmless group—they're living on borrowed time Sooner or later we tsk-tsk'ers will go berserk and destroy them in a manner appropriate to the amount of torture they've inflicted.

Church Is A Home

The Church is a Home. It is the household of God. All hearts meet here. It is the center of spiritual life, and the church is the center of spiritual life, the unity of the people remains intact. The church not only provides a home for the Christian on this earth, but also provides a home that is eternal in the heavens. "We are the children of God, and if children, then heirs; heirs of God and joint heirs with Christ."

The External Lamp

A Sermonette
By REV. ELLIS GUTHRIE
Pastor of First Church of the Brethren

Text—Psalm 119:105, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unti my path."

THE Psalm from which our text is taken is the longest chapter in the Bible. It is a Psalm of praise. The Psalm is divided into 22 sections. The thirteenth praises the law of God. "Oh how love I thy law! it is my meditation all the day." And then, at the beginning of the next section, the Psalmist reaches new and beautiful heights as he pens these words —"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."

If we are honest we admit tht the Psalmist was not thinking of the Bible when he wrote those words. He was thinking of the word of God as it had been preserved for man in the Old Testament writings. Nevertheless, we do no violence if we use this verse as a guiding light in our meditation upon the Holy Scripture. The Bible is to those who love it—"The Eternal Lamp."

First of all the Bible is the Divine Word of God. Many people have attacked it and claimed that this is not true. But the Apostle Paul says that "all scripture is given by inspiration of God . . ."

A sailor was shipwrecked and cast upon an island in the South Sea. He had no hope of life for he had been on the island some years before and knew that cannibals had inhabited the island. However, he climbed a hill overlooking the island. As he looked out over the island his heart beat with joy, for in the distance he saw the spire of a church. The word of God had been carried to that island and because of its influence he need have no fear of cannibals.

There is peace, security and joy wherever the word of God is honored. Its lamp points out to us the way of life and when we come to the cold, sullen stream of death its bright ray points out safe stepping stones across the river.

It is said that when Sir Walter Raleigh lay on his death bed that he asked for "The Book." When asked what book he wanted he replied: "There is only one book for a dying man—the Bible." When we are facing life at its grimest or at its close we need the breath of the Divine. The fragrance from the very throne of God rises from the pages of Holy Writ. We can truly say, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."

Yes, the Bible is a divine book; but if we were to stop here we would only have half of the truth, for the Bible is also a human book. In II Peter 1:21, we read that "holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Spirit." In other words, God's revelation to man came thr ugh human personality and concerns many personalities. We like to read about Peter because he was so human. We realize that if God could use this erratic fisherman in such a vital way that He can also use us, weak though we be.

But the Bible is a human book for another reason. A seminary professor once told of a man who earnestly prayed to walk closer to God than it is given to mortal man. But his prayer was answered and he had to cry out that he couldn't stand it. The glory of God is too strong for the human to fully see. And so we can thank God that the Bible is a human book as well as a Divine book. Otherwise we could not gain from it the guidance and comfort that we need.

So we see that the Bible is both a human and a Divine book. Again, if we are honest, we must realize that the New Testament is on a higher plane than the Old, for it is in Christ that we have the perfect revelation of God. H. C. Rowley gives the illustration of glass which sometimes dims the light as it passes through. We can be thankful that Christ was as glass, clear as crystal, and in Him we see the Father clearly, for Jesus said unto Philip, ". . . he that hath seen me hath seen the Father."

The Holy Scriptures contain God's word to man. Because its brightness is seen through the human we are not blinded. It is indeed a lamp unto our feet, and a light unto our path. To be sure, some personalities give a brighter light than others. In Genesis the revelation is as clear and beautiful as a starlit night. In the prophets the words come to us in all the glory and splendor of the full moon on the eastern horizon; and in the New Testament the light of God springs upon us in all the beauty and brightness of the sun at noon-day, and with all its healing powers.

Thy Word—a lamp unto my feet.
It guides me through the forest deep!
It leads me to the mountain side,
And o'er the peak—that great divide.
It leads me far beyond the ken
Or thought or hope of martal men.
It takes me where no man has trod—
Before the throne of Christ our God.
It takes away the fear of death.
Thy word is light unto my path.

"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."

The thigh bone is the longest and strongest in the human body.

Standardized Home Plan Devised to Reduce Waste and Lower Costs

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

Almost everyone occupying the house they own, or the house they are living in for any length of time have certain ideas about what they would do with it or to it, if finances permitted. As a rule these ideas spring from something they have seen, or from a definite need which the house does not present. Most of us know that the illustrations and suggestions for home improvement, which we see every month in the best-known national magazines, make us squirm with envy; and fill us with a desire to do something about our own drab bathroom or down-at-the-heels living room.

Most of us are held back by the idea that vast improvement is accompanied by vast expenditures of money. Nothing could be further from the truth. The finest decorators in the world have ideas to sell, first of all. The best of architects have designs for homes to sell, first of all. The average person has free license to sit down and think, and to work up ideas and designs for nothing. They have further license to execute their ideas in an economical manner. Not only can they think and develop and execute, but they can have no end of fun and enjoyment in the bargain.

Work of Novices

Some of the most attractive homes we have ever seen, and some of the best equipped and decorated houses we have ever been in, are the result of good, solid, amateur effort. Usually these homes have been made beautiful and functional by the owner taking one room at a time; studying the layout, window and door situation, size and shape; and comparing it with the best examples of similar rooms which they have seen or read about. They have then gone ahead to copy or simulate the ideal room in a manner in keeping with their own financial resources.

As a concrete example of what is meant, we would cite an actual incident. The owners of a house had an old-fashioned bathroom on the second floor. They had the old plumbing fixtures ripped out and new modern fixtures installed. A corner shower replaced the old bathtub. To save expense, the new fixtures were installed along one wall so that the rough plumbing under the floor would not have to be replaced. The result was a bathroom with three new fixtures along one wall, and a long blank wall opposite. In spite of new paint and floor covering the room was bare looking and homely.

Having a good imagination, the owner decided that wall dressing table and chair would transform the room into a splendid feature of the house. Being economically minded, she visited a second-hand furniture store, bought an old dining room table for two dollars, sawed it in half, attached two spindle legs purchased at the same place, and set it against the blank wall. A coat of white paint, followed by one of white enamel produced a half-moon dressing table that could not be bettered by a cabinet maker for fifty dollars. An old chair, enameled and reupholstered in striped gold and blue fabric, completed the combination.

A week later, as luck would have it, she bought two-foot by four-foot plate glass mirror at a country auction, removed it from its frame, and attached it to the wall above the dressing table. The point to be made, is that anyone who wants to study their rooms can do likewise. You do not need to have a lot of money to spend, but you do need thought and ingenuity.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Stains on Hardwood Floor

Q.: A section of hardwood floor under our kitchen sink is not covered with linoleum. It is stained from water that dripped from the edge of the sink. Would the stains come out by rubbing with sandpaper and steel wool, or are they too deep? I could apply varnish afterward.

A.: When wood is dry, rub with sandpaper. If this takes out the stains, you then could apply two coats of quick-drying floor varnish. If the stains have penetrated too deeply, you can bleach them out with a saturated solution of oxalic acid, made by dissolving the crystals in denatured alcohol, as much as a given amount of the alsohol will dissolve. Instead of alcohol, you can use hot water in the same way, and apply hot. Let the solution remain on the wood overnight, then rinse off thoroughly next morning. If the wood is rough when dry, smooth with sand paper and apply the varnish. You would protect the floor by covering with a scatter rug or mat.

Oil Stains on Cement Floor

Q. Please tell me how to remove oil stains from the cement floor of my basement.

A. Dealers in factory supplies sell an oil-absorbing powder which is quite effective on fresh oil stains. Another method would be first, to cover the oil with a thick layer of dry portland cement or powdered whiting, leaving it in place for several days. After the powder has been saturated with the oil, scrape it off and repeat several times until no more oil will be absorbed. Later, scrub the floor with a strong solution of washing soda or trisodium phosphate, about a handful to each pail of hot water. Rinse well afterward.

Rebuilding Steps

Q. I am planning to rebuild steps (about 100). Would you advise wooden, concrete or crcshed stone?

A. From the point of maintenance and durability, concrete steps of a good concrete mixture and properly set in place would be most practical.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
Associated Press Real Estate Reporter

NEW YORK—The building industry's answer to high construction costs is a standardized home plan designed to utilize standard sizes of materials to reduce waste and unnecessary labor.

After two years of research, the Industry-Engineering Committee of upwards of 100 experts in the field has produced basic home designs which are to be promoted by 42 cooperating business associations.

The program was sponsored by the Producers Council, Inc., an organization of construction materials and equipment manufacturers, and the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

The Office of Technical Services of the Department of Commerce has made a grant of $45,000 for the study of economies in the assembly of the houses and work has been started by the University of Illinois on six demonstration houses.

Standard Multiples

The basic plan incorporates a co-ordination of the modular system of design in which all measurements are based on four-inch multiples. Development of materials on modular scale has been underway for eight years and many products are now available under this standard, reducing the number of unrelated sizes and minimizing cutting and fitting on the job.

The system is now to be adopted by 25,000 dealer-distributor organizations. No retooling is required by manufacturers and builders can take advantage of the economies merely by familiarizing themselves with details of the technique.

The major aim of the program is to enable small builders to participate in the economies of mass production already attained by large-scale operators.

The basic house plan measures 16 by 24 to 28 feet, subdivided in units four feet square.

In Use Long Time

"In American home construction," the engineering committee decided, "the four-inch unit of measurement has been for many years the controlling factor in designing homes because of the early selection of 16-inch and 24-inch spacing between centers of studs and joists."

"As many products have been developed in recent years for dry wall construction, they have naturally been produced in four-inch multiples. Sheet-board materials are available for example in 48-inch widths by 96-inch lengths and other common multiples of four inches.

"Similarly many insulating bats and blankets have been developed to fit between studs and rafters spaced 16 inches on centers."

Reason for Width

The 16-foot width of the house was chosen to conform to the greatest span that could be used safely for 2x10-inch floor joists unsupported except at the ends. The 16-foot length of joists also lends itself to use without cutting or fitting and that span between walls allows for the use of simple tied-rafter type of roof truss, assembled on the floor and lifted into place.

The committee recommends the installation of finished flooring and ceiling before the erection of interior partitions to increase savings in labor time and materials.

"Such methods," the experts say, "make possible the preassembly of closets and storage walls. If locally practical, closets and fittings and storage walls and shelves can be completely manufactured and delivered to the site in a knocked-down condition."

Variety Not Restricted

The engineers point out that use of the standardized plans does not restrict homes to a sameness in outward appearance.

Savings of 10 per cent over ordinary methods are envisaged by the sponsors of this plan, although exact estimates depend on local variations in wages and prices.

By The Associated Press

Designed to cut costs through use of standardized material, this house was designed by A. Gordon Lorimer and Randolph Evans, New York architects, in accordance with the modular system of planning. Four-foot multiples make the house 16 feet wide and 24 feet long. It is one of the basic plans adopted by the building industry in a program to coordinate planning with material sizes.

Westminster Class Has Monthly Luncheon

The monthly luncheon meeting of the Westminster Bible class of the First Presbyterian Sunday school was held Wednesday in the recreation room of the church. Group One with Mrs. L. A. Robinson and Mrs. Elza Hosler as chairmen, was in charge of the luncheon and a program was in charge of members of Group Two with Mrs. R. Butterworth presiding.

A group of vocal solos by Miss Jean Thompson, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Eliza Williams, opened the program hour. Mrs. Anna Waters reviewed the Old Testament to the time of Christ. During a business meeting Mrs. G. H. Lindsey, chairman of the home department of the Sunday school, Mrs. Ivah Bechtel, missionary chairman, and the treasurer, Mrs. Ray Bonnette, presented reports.

LODGE PLANS HOMECOMING

Plans for the annual homecoming celebration to be held Oct. 16 were made at the meeting Thursday night of Mizpah Encampment No. 50, I.O.O.F. Approximately 40 grand patriarchs from Toledo are expected to attend. A dinner at the lodge hall will be held at 7 p. m.

Conserve Food Are the Watchwords

In the days ahead if peace comes with them, may we be kept meek though they crown us with laurels fitting to be worn by a benefactor.

It's what we waste rather than what we eat that spells the difference between scarcity and plenty.

If Meals are carefully planned and balanced, good food selected and appetizingly cooked and served, we may all eat well, and have an abundance to share with those in other lands who are less fortunate than ourselves.

TO ACCEPT BIDS FOR GALION POWER

Service Director To Accept Proposals Up to Oct. 20.

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 4—Service Director K. A. Poister, Friday, advertised for sealed proposals to be received until 12 o'clock noon, Oct. 20, 1947, for furnishing electrical energy to supplement the supply generated by the Municipal Generating Plant for the operation of the municipal electric distribution system of the City. All bids must be in accordance with the specifications, and must be made on the proposal form, both of which documents may be obtained from the service director. A certified check for $1,000 must accompany each proposal. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of 30 days after the date of opening bids.

This is another step toward solving Galion's problem of supplying manufacturers with adequate and firm power. The service director was authorized to advertise for bids for outside power in an ordinance passed recently by City Council after manufacturers asked that council take such action or they would have to install their own generating equipment.

BUYER RESISTANCE TO BUTTER GAINING

By The Associated Press

Consumer resistance to the high prices for butter appeared gaining further support today.

Butter prices — which in some parts of the country had reached $1 a pound a few weeks ago—have declined recently but the current high price apparently is too much for many housewives.

Supplies are plentiful, dealers said, but buying is light. Checks with merchants in several cities show a general dropping off in over the counter sales.

Meanwhile, in other developments on the food-price situation, there were reports by bakers that a retail increase of 1 cent a loaf in the price of bread in several cities would become effective soon in most sections of the country. Higher prices for flour and other ingredients were causing the hike in bread, industry spokesmen said.

A load of strictly choice hogs sold for $30.25 a hundredweight at Indianapolis yesterday, setting an all time high. But in other livestock markets sales were slow. Hog receipts at Chicago increased to 9,000, the largest Friday volume in four months. Cattle prices at Chicago were steady, with a top of $34.

In the grain market at Chicago wheat closed unchanged to 1 cent lower. Corn figures broke about 7 cents on announcement by the department of agriculture that 82 per cent of the crop was safe from frost damage Sept. 26 and private estimates that the crop would run about 100,000,000 bushels more than the government's estimate. The market closed 2 3/8 to 3 5/8 cents lower.

Veeck Stays Hand In Boudreau Trade After Fans Howl

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 4—A bombardment of telephone calls and telegrams from Cleveland fans had Bill Veeck, president of the Cleveland Indians, hesitating today in his plans to trade away Lou Boudreau, Tribe manager since 1942.

At the World Series yesterday Veeck told Gordon Cobbledick, Cleveland Plain Dealer sports editor, he would fly here today to see for himself how fans are reacting to reports of a deal to send Boudreau to the St. Louis Browns.

After the telegrams and phone calls started coming in, Veeck called a temporary halt to a deal that would have sent the Flying Frenchman along with pitchers Embree and Bryan Stephens to the Browns for shortstop Vernon Stephens, outfielder Paul Lehner and pitcher Jack Kramer, Cobbledick reported.

"I don't want to do anything to alienate our customers," the writer quoted Veeck as saying. "They're the people who keep us in business. On the other hand, I have to be guided in the long run by my best judgment and the best advice I can get."

Boudreau, smooth-fielding Tribe shortstop and an Indian since 1939, had no comment from his home at Harvey, Ill. "Any announcement or comment must come from Veeck," he said and added he "possibly may seek Veeck after the World Series."

The fiery 30-year-old pilot had wide popularity here.

In the Chicago Tribune this morning, Sports Editor Arch Ward said in a dispatch from Brooklyn that Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Hollywood Stars "is flying to New York to confer with Harry Grabiner (Indians vice president and treasurer) and Veeck, Cleveland Indians bosses, regarding a job as 1948 pilot."

Veeck denied other rumors that Boudreau and third baseman Ken Keltner might be traded to the New York Yankees for shortstop Phil Rizzuto, third baseman Billy Johnson and Bill Wright, pitcher.

DRIVER FINED AFTER CRASH NEAR CARDINGTON

Mansfield Man Taken into Mayor's Court.

Alfred Tucker, 28, of Mansfield pleaded guilty to parking on a highway when he appeared at 4:45 a. m. today before Mayor P. A. Richeson of Cardington and was fined $15 and costs. He was arrested by state highway patrolmen after a collision involving his car, which was parked on route 41 just south of Cardington, and a car driven by James A. Ford, 19, of Xenia, Ohio.

The driver of the Ford car and two of the occupants suffered bruises and lacerations. The other injured were Faye L. Ford, 24, and Betty Cordell, 20, of Yellow Springs, O.

The accident happened when Ford's car, traveling east on route 42, crashed into the rear of the Tucker car which was parked without lights, patrolmen said. The Tucker car was demolished, and the front end of the Ford automobile was badly damaged. The injured were treated by a Cardington physician.

CAMPAIGN

workers out of 52 were placed in suitable employment. This year, since there is a greater number of physically handicapped workers seeking employment through the OSES, there is even a greater necessity for the cooperation of every employer including the foremen of our industries to closely analyze their activities and determine where a physically limited worker could be given an opportunity to prove his productive ability.

Mr. Scherff further explained that the key to successful employment of physically limited workers is proper placement—Selective Placement as it is called by the Employment Service is neither complicated nor involved. In short, this is placing the emphasis on the physically limited applicant's capabilities rather than on his disabilities. Invariably the disabled applicant's remaining capacities will be far greater than those he lost. The applicant's physical capacity is evaluated in terms of physical activities, his ability to walk, run, see, hear, talk, etc., and environmental conditions, his ability to stand exposure to wet, cold, dry, etc.

Similarly, jobs under consideration for physically handicapped workers are analyzed in terms of physical requirements, i. e. does the job require walking, running, seeing, hearing, talking, etc., and the working conditions, wet, cold dry, inside, etc. With this information, it is only necessary to match the man and the job to assure maximum possibility of a successful placement as far as disabilities are concerned. Other factors such as skill, training, education, experience, etc. enter the picture the same as they do in the employment of the ablebodies.

Employers Cooperate

Mr. Scherff further advised that the employers in Marion had been very cooperative in assisting in placing applicants with limitations. During the month of September 20 physically limited workers were placed in employment in Marion.

Mr. Scherff emphasized the fact that NEPH Week definitely is not meant to work on the sentiments of employers in order that they would hire workers out of sympathy for them—physically limited applicants must be given employment which they can assume efficiently, and not on a charitable basis.

Plans for the observance of NEPH Week in Marion were begun to be laid on Sept. 16, when a local committee was formed comprised of Hugh E. Webster, Harry L. Dowler, Ray Beverly, Carroll Davidson, W. T. Buchanan Robert Morrison, Ellis Oiler, Sam Manning, E. E. Holt, Paul Simpson, Richard Myers, John Peacock, Edwin K. Smith, Frank Foster, E. L. Cleveland, D. J. MacDonald, Francis C. Field, James Cusic, Thad Kuenzli, Mary K. Miley, Robert Mason, Dr. V. E. Busler, Roy Lovett, and H. H. Douthitt who was named chairman of the committee.

Support Asked

Plans for NEPT Week observance will require the support of every citizen in the community—radio and newspaper publicity will be carried throughout the week to keep the observance uppermost in the minds of the citizens; cash prizes will be offered the persons who give the best answer for hiring physically limited workers, and during the week the staff of the Marion OSES and the members of the NEPH committee will personally contact employers to attempt to obtain job opportunities on which to refer physically limited workers.

Employers are requested to place their job opportunities on file in the Marion OSES in order that physically limited workers can contact one place and be advised of the job for which he is most qualified and after taking into consideration the physical demands of the job and the physical capacities of the applicant. Employers who hire physically limited workers direct without placing their order on file with the OSES are requested to either advise the Marion Chamber of Commerce, phone 2277, or the OSES, 1681, of the name of the physically limited worker who was given the job opportunity, the name of the industry giving the opportunity, and the title of the job. This information is desired in order that a complete report of the success of NEPH Week can be made.

AIRLINE

tween Cleveland and St. Louis or Indianapolis was needed.

Concerning TWA, certificated to serve Marion, a part of the board's opinion gives an idea of what the largest airline now in operation plans for this area.

The board says—"Under its plan of operation, TWA proposes o provide local and express, commuter and skip stop services over certain of the routes using two-engine aircraft. Local service will be offered to intermediate cities. Commuter service will be rendered to most of the points involved with early morning and late afternoon departures being scheduled at each point and in each direction, enabling passengers to travel to any one of the cities, transact their business and return home the same day. Skip stop service between major terminals are planned which will provide elapsed time only slightly longer than non-stop service. Connections for long haul passengers at major terminals will provide four-engine transport service accomplishing substantial savings in time over existing rail and bus service. TWA's proposals offer the opportunity to experiment with shorthaul service by an existing trunk line carrier. In the eastern part of the area and in Ohio in particular there are a number of substantial cities not now receiving air service and by virtue of their size and economic importance to the nation's growth, are well adapted for inclusion in the experiment. We expect that, in general, at least two schedules per day will be provided for each city certificated.

Of Marion in particular, the CAB had this to say:—it is a highly industrialized and also a very productive agricultural community. The value of its manufactured products in 1939 totaled almost 17 million dollars and its retail sales nearly 13 million. The city's postal receipts in 1942 exceeded 190 thousand dollars. Its nearest certificated air terminal is Columbus, 45 miles away. Offering air service to Cleveland and other points of primary traffic concern will afford Marion with not only long haul service to major cities on TWA's system but also local service to Springfield, Mansfield, Lima, Ft. Wayne, Dayton and Toledo.

Harding High Band Helps Mark Parents' Night at Grid Game

An observance of "Parents' Night" was held at the Harding-Uhrichsville football game Friday night at the Harding stadium with a special tribute paid them during the halftime intermission.

The parents were introduced by E. Paul Huffman over the public address system.

The 60 piece Harding band, under the direction of Homer Huffman, saluted the mothers and dads during their halftime program by spelling out "Mom," during which they played "I Want a Girl," and following this up with the word "Pop" and playing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." The band personnel remained in the latter formation during the time the parents were being introduced.

Opening Fanfare

An opening fanfare with the band lined up single file at the south end of the field started the halftime program. From this they went into the regular marching formation and at the center of the field formed a "U" in salute to the visitors.

Then, as part of a religious theme, the band formed a large cross lighted with sparklers and play "Onward Christian Soldiers." The band concluded its show with the school letters and the school "fight" and alma mater songs.

One of the two newly acquired mascots appeared with the band last night. He is Mike Fellebaum, a first grade pupil. The other mascot is Jax Carroll. Drum major for the band is Paul Arndt, and majorettes are Martha Douce, Elaine Everett and Dorothy Cooper.

"Hello" To Visitors

Preceding the game, the band marched onto the field and spelled "Hello" to the Harding fans and then to the visitors. This was followed by the flag raising ceremony.

As in past games, each time a touchdown was made by the Harding team, an aerial bomb was exploded as a salute.

While the band is presenting its program, the formations are described over the public address system by George Lane, a former member of the band.

FBI JOINS INVESTIGATION OF TENNESSEE KILLING

Political Leader Dies in Mysterious Automobile Blast.

Special to The Star

ETOWAH, Tenn., Oct. 4—The FBI joined county and city police today in investigating a mysterious automobile explosion which mangled and killed T. Burkett Ivins, prominent figure in McMinn county's turbulent politics.

Ivins was a lieutenant in the Paul Cantrell political machine which was ousted in a bullet-ridden election in August, 1946, when a veterans' group stormed the county jail where ballots were held.

The 65-year-old Democratic leader was killed yesterday when a terrific explosion ripped his car to pieces and blew a fender through the garage roof as he stepped on the starter.

"We've got nothing to work on," said Sheriff Knox Henry shortly afterwards. He said the explosive charge had been attached to the fuel pump of the car with two wires connected to spark plugs.

Ivins was scheduled to go on trial Monday for the slaying of Charles Dunn, a nephew of Lake Dunn, a political enemy of Ivins. He had pleaded self defense.

MINORITY CABINET OF DENMARK FALLS

By The Associated Press

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 4—Premier Knud Kristensen's minority government fell today.

The Danish parliament's lower chamber cast an 80 to 66 vote of no confidence on a resolution blaming Kristensen for his attitude on the South Schleswig question as voiced in speeches outside parliament.

The general expectation was that the elections would be called for Oct. 30. Under Danish law, Kristensen's middle-of-the-road government will remain in power on a trusteeship basis until the election results are announced, when it will submit a formal resignation.

Resolutions of no confidence had been offered by the Social Democrats, with 48 seats in the lower house; the Communists, with 18, and the Radical Left party, with 11; representing together a majority in the 149 seat house. The Radical Left's resolution was the one voted on.

Kristensen—appointed premier Nov. 7, 1945, as successor to Social Democrat Vilhelm Buhl—is the first premier to have served under Kin Frederik, who succeeded to the throne last April 20 on the death of his father, Christian X. Kristensen is a liberal. His party also is known as the Farmers party.

Larry Parks Stars In Palace Picture "Down To Earth"

"Down to Earth," the new technicolor musical starring Rita Hayworth and Larry Parks, the great hit of "The Jolson Story," opens today at the Palace theater and is scheduled to continue through Thursday.

One of the most intriguing mysteries of the current season, the picture introduces several spectacular musical numbers. Rita Hayworth is seen as a ravishing beauty who falls in love with a Broadway producer. The film presents a love story with an inspired touch. Rita is the star of a Broadway production highlighting the lives and loves of a lovely goddess. She insists that the role should be played one way, and Larry Parks, who is the producer of the show, insists that it should be played another.

One episode follows another as the two debate the merits of their own interpretation of the role until the climax when Rita takes the matters into her own hands.

Added attractions will include a Tom and Jerry cartoon in technicolor, "Part Time Pal," a sport short, "Volley Oop," and the latest news.

Saturday night, a midnight surprise fun show will be held, along with lots of laughs and comedies.

An hilarious comedy, "It Happened On 5th Avenue," starring Don DeFore, Ann Harding, Charlie Ruggles, Victor Moore and Gale Storm, will be shown Friday and Saturday.

The story is based on an interlude in the life of hobo philosopher Victor Moore, who has solved the housing problem through the simple means of moving into the unoccupied mansions of vacationing millionaires. Thus for the third year, he has established himself in the dwelling of Charlie Ruggles. After Moore has taken in Don DeFore, an evicted ex-G.I., the two are startled by the "intrusion" of Gale Storm, Ruggles' daughter who has run away from a boarding school. She conceals her identity and is allowed to remain. Soon other vets and their families are added, but a problem arises when Ruggles arrives from his winter home in Virginia, searching for his daughter.

Short features will be a Little Lulu cartoon, "A Bout with a Trout," and news.

"Life With Father" At Ohio Runs Through Next Thursday

"Life with Father," the screen adaptation of the outstanding stage production which ran continuously in New York and on the road for eight years, opened Friday at the Ohio theater and is billed to run through Thursday.

Photographed in technicolor and starring William Powell and Irene Dunne, with Elizabeth Taylor and ZaSu Pitts, the film is an original story based on the sketches of Clarence Day Jr. about his father, who was a cantankerous but loving husband and parent.

Packed with fun and gaiety, the comedy depicts a memorable picture of Americana life during the brownstone era. New York City in 1880 is the setting for the trials and tribulations of the Day family. Father, played by William Powell, is an eccentric gentleman, who can be subdued only by his charming, red-haired wife, Vinnie, played by Irene Dunne.

ZaSu Pitts Is Cousin Cora

Cousin Cora, played by ZaSu Pitts, comes to visit, bringing along Mary, Elizabeth Taylor. Young Clarence, Jimmy Lydon, falls in love with her and courts her. But when the matter of baptism arises with Father declaring he was never baptized, a family crisis is created.

Special prices are being charged for this engagement only.

Opening Friday will be "The Foxes of Harrow," the filmization of the sensational Frank Yerby best seller and a story of adventure, romance and drama. It is billed to run for seven days.

Starred are Rex Harrison and Maureen O'Hara, with Richard Haydn, Vanessa Bown, Victor McLaglen and Patrician Medina playing featured roles.

A story of conflict and violence in troubled and colorful pre-Civil War Louisiana, the film unfolds the drama of Stephen Fox, a dashing, daring and reckless gambler with an indomitable passion for power, of his romance with the Creole beauty, Odalie, and of his battle to build Harrow into a symbol of all his hopes.

Marion Books Racing Picture

"Sport of Kings" Opens Week on Double Bill with "Dear Ruth."

A romantic drama of Kentucky horseracing, "Sport of Kings," and the film version of the hilarious hit play, "Dear Ruth," will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

"Sport of Kings," starring Paul Campbell, Gloria Henry, Harry Davenport and Mark Dennis, is the story of an old Southern gentleman who persists in realizing his dream of some day winning the big race with his favorite colt, although he faces a financial situation. "Dear Ruth" is concerned with the romantic problems of Joan Caulfield, whose 16-year-old sister has been secretly carrying on a correspondence in her name with soldier William Holden.

Zane Grey's "Western Union," celebrated as the mightiest drama of the frontier West the screen has ever known, makes a return engagement to the Marion theater Tuesday and Wednesday as the main attraction of a double feature. It stars Robert Young, Randolph Scott, and Virginia Gilmore. Completing the billing will be "Dark Delusion" starring Lionel Barrymore, Lucille Bremer and James Craig.

"Western Union" unfolds the gripping story of the fierce battle to build the first transcontinental telegraph over a West infested with renegades and hostile Indians. "Dark Delusion", the latest in the popular "Dr. Gillespie" medical drama series, tells how the brilliant surgeon again attempts to further the career of one of his proteges.

"Smoke River Serenade" starring Ruth Terry and Paul Campbell with the Hoosier Hot Shots, and "Desperate" with Steve Brodie and Audrey Long will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

In the latter picture, Steve Brodie portrays a young truck driver, working toward the day when his single truck will become a fleet. He becomes involved in a job against his better judgment, and is charged with murder.

HARDING SMASHES UHRICHSVILLE, 32-0, FOR THIRD WIN

Well-Oiled Prexy Grid Machine Rolls Without Losing One Yard

By BILL DIEM

Harding Presidents rolled over little Uhrichsville High school at the stadium last night, 32-0, before a Parents' Night crowd of about 2,400.

Scoring in every period, the Prexy onslaught marched downfield in sustained drives that ate up a total of 236 yards while Prexy defense held the Uhrichsville Tigers to 144 yards gained.

Playing a harder, tighter, game than in any previous football conflict this season, Harding lost no yards rushing, had no passes intercepted, and recovered their single fumble, while breaking up four Tiger passes, intercepting three more, and recovering two Tiger bobbles.

Start Right In

The Prexy machine had a full head of steam even as the whistle opened the game. Clarence Smith ran back the opening kickoff 24 yards, and Jim Hill, Smith, Jim Coss, and Dick Leffler took turns carrying the mail in a quick march down field that earned Harding three first downs in four plays. After spending a full down getting from the 14 to the two, the Prexies sent Smith over for the first tally. Short's kick was wide.

After the Harding line squeezed a fumble out of Uhrichville's halfback Tolloty a few minutes later, Jack Bishop recovered, setting up the second score. After a march from downfield, Coss went through the line eight yards for the second touchdown. Short's kick again went wide.

Pass Connects

After an exchange of punts and 15-yard penalties, a Coss to Huddle pass connected on the 20 and Huddle galloped over for the score late in the second quarter. This time Ralston tried the kick and missed.

The second half started with a 15-yard holding penalty against Uhrichsville which foreshadowed a series of rough plays and big penalties later in the quarter. After driving to the Uhrichsville seven to lose the ball on downs, Harding took a Tiger punt on the 30 and after picking up nine yards on the ground, a Coss to Hill aerial sent the shifty halfback 21 yards for the next tally.

Gherman Converts

Gherman's first attempted conversion was blocked, but Uhrichsville drew an unnecessary roughness penalty and Gherman tried again, this time with success.

Uhrichsville drew two more of the same in succession early in the fourth period while playing at midfield, and Harding entered the spirit of the thing on the following play. Harding's stellar center, Bob Short, took the boys' minds off the rough stuff by intercepting a Tiger pass and galloping to the Uhrichsville 22. Coss went the rest of the distance, two plays later for the final touchdown. Gherman's dropkick made the score 32-0.

PROSPECT, CLARIDON TIE; LA RUE IS WINNER

LaRue took the only victory in the Double M six-man football league yesterday afternoon by trimming Johnsville on the Morrow county field, 42-18. In the only other league contest Claridon and Prospect played a 12-12 tie under the lights at Prospect. The other Marion county sextet, Caledonia, was idle and Chesterville played a non-league game at Howard last night.

The LaRue gridders piled up a 34-0 lead at halftime and the reserves played most of the remainder of the contest.

LaRue kicked off to start the game and after holding the Morrow countians, forced a punt and John Tate returned it for the first touchdown and the LaRue offense was under way.

Wilson followed a few minutes later with a run around right end for touchdown. Don Ledman caught three passes from Wilson and scored. Marion Lightfoot ran through the line for a score. Ralph Wilson converted with dropkicks three of five times.

In the game at Prospect Claridon scored in the second quarter on a three-yard plunge by Jack Chapman with a minute and a half to go before the half. Chapman plunged over again in the third quarter after a pass set up the play.

Casey Buckingham went into pay dirt for Prospect in the third quarter after a 55-yard trek around left end.

With a minute and a half to go in the final stanza Landon of Prospect passed to Wolfe from his own 38 yard line and Wolfe galloped over the goal line to tie the contest. All conversion attempts failed.

LaRue now has a record of three wins against no setbacks and Caledonia is also undefeated with two league victories. The two teams meet next Friday on the Caledonia gridiron.

Kenton Stays Unbeaten As Forest Bows 33 to 0

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 4—Kenton's Wildcats smashed Forest there last night, 33-0, to remain undefeated this season. Fullback Decker, playing an inspiring game, was in on every Kenton touchdown but one.

A 25-yard Decker to Healy pass set up the first score in the second period, and Decker went over from the 35 for the tally. Sprang added the extra point, plunging. Later in the period, after receiving a punt, Decker smashed off tackle on the next play and ran 70 yards for a touchdown.

In the third period, two pass plays, from Decker to Pugh and to Healy sent Kenton to the Forest two yard line, and Sprang plunged over for the tally. A Decker to Healy pass connected for the extra point.

Next Wildcat score was set up by recovering a Forest fumble on their 11, and Handenschild went over from the one for the touchdown.

Final score came when Decker's pass to Healy connected to send Healy over from the 30. The same combination worked for the extra point.

St. Mary Gridders Overpower Tiffin Calvert, 25-6

Irish Aerials Connect as Hosts Fail To Solve Local Defenses

St. Mary overpowered Tiffin Calvert at Tiffin last night, 25-6 before an estimated crowd of 2,300.

Irish passes and fight spelled the difference between the teams as three Irish aerials in five tries connected for large gains and two touchdowns.

Fullback John Baldauf, out of the starting lineup, but very much in the game, sharing the fullback assignment with Bill Merchant, plunged over from the five-yard line early in the first quarter after Joe Maniaci had set up the touchdown with a blocked kick. The six point lead St. Mary enjoyed was never overcome by the heavy Calvert squad and no more points were added until the final quarter.

Scoreless Quarters

After scoreless second and third quarters, Schuler opened the fourth period with a tally, plunging over from the seven-yard line after a Baldauf pass had connected to set up the score. Tom Werley's placement made the score 13-0.

Dick Schuler caught a pass from John Baldauf and galloped 40 yards for a touchdown later in the final period. The try for the extra point was not good.

Last Irish tally came toward the end of the game on a center play. Dan Smith, Irish center, caught a pass from Bill Merchant that was good for 45 yards and a touchdown.

Calvert Scores

Only Calvert score came in the final minutes of the game when fullback Burkhart plunged over after the Senecas had marched through the Irish reserve team.

Coach Gene Fetter credited the Irish fighting spirit with winning the game. The Irish were pushed in the first half, he said, but held when the going got tough. St. Mary scored but one first down in the first half, while the Senecas chalked up seven.

The last three Irish touchdowns were made on trick plays, screen passes and center plays, said Coach Fetter.

The Irish will meet Marysville next Friday in their second Mid-State league game.

Mt. Gilead Edges Sunbury, 13 to 12

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD—Mt. Gilead came from behind to edge Sunbury here last night, 13-12, with halfback Lancaster the hero of the day for making good the winning conversion.

Both Sunbury tallies were made in the first half. A double lateral from Metzger to Gray to Carter sent Carter over in the first period with the first Sunbury score. An attempted pass for the extra point was incomplete.

Richardson made the second Sunbury score in the second period, running around end for seven yards and the goal. Mt. Gilead blocked the kick for the extra point.

Mt. Gilead took the kickoff and marched down from their own 32-yard line to set up the score. Campbell's pass to McCarty went nine yards for the touchdown. The kick was wide.

Mt. Gilead drove down again in the third period with Campbell going over from the seven to tie the score. Lancaster made good his placement to win the game.

Lavagetto Spoils No-Hitter For Bevens, Gives Bums Win

By The Associated Press

BROOKLYN, Oct. 4—Cookie Lavagetto, a weather beaten "has been" left over from the 1941 Dodgers, is the hero and Yankee Bill Bevens the heart-sick victim of the most dramatic moment in the history of 44 World Series.

Long after it has been forgotten that Cookie's pinch double boosted the Brooks into today's fifth game all even with the favored New York Yankees, folks will gather around the hot stove leagues to retell how Bevens missed becoming the first no-hit series pitcher by the margin of two strikes.

Two men were out and New York clung to a wobbly 2-1 lead yesterday. Three times Bevens had been saved by leaping catches against the fences and scoreboard by Johnny Lindell, Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Hendrich.

A ninth-inning rally that would have solidified Bevens' slender margin had been quieted by Hugh Casey, the bulging saloon owner, who threw just one ball to Henrich for a double play that snuffed out the threat.

Dodgers' Last Chance

It was the Dodgers' last chance against. Bevens who already had surpassed the best previous no-hit mark in a series game when he finished the eighth. Red Ruffing had muffled the Cardinals' bats for 7 2/3 innings in 1942 but Big Bill had gone him one inning better.

Bruce Edwards, leading off the ninth, bucked Lindell against the left field boards for the first out. Then Bevens walked Carl Furillo. Spider Jorgensen hoisted a foul pop to George McQuinn and there was only one out to go.

Al Gionfriddo, the extra man who was "thrown into" the Kirby Higbe deal with Pittsburgh, was sent in to run for Furillo. And Pete Reiser, sidelined by a badly sprained ankle, went up to hit for Casey.

As Bevens threw a third ball to Reiser, Gionfriddo streaked for second, sliding in safely under Larry Berra's toss on a close play. Manager Bucky Harris ordered Reiser intentionally passed, leaving himself open for all the second guessers by violating the cardinal diamond rule of "never put the winning run on base." It was Bevens' 10th walk, setting a new series single game record.

Pinch Hitter

Two on, two out with speedy Eddie Miksis running for the limping Reiser and LaVagetta arrived on the scene as a pinch hitter for Eddie Stanky. Here was the washed up vet who had to talk Branch Rickey into sending him a contract this season.

Swinging and missing once, LaVagetto sent the throbbing crowd into mass hysteria with a two-bagger over Henrich's head that spread heavenly joy in Flatbush and scattered gloom from the Yankee clubhouse all the way to Bevens' home town in far-off Salem, Oregon. Instead of a 2-1 Yank win it was a 3-2 Dodger triumph. Black had become white and night had turned into day.

A large share of the crowd of 33,442 refused to go home after it was over. They milled about the field, searching for some scrap of Dodger left-over they could take home as a souvenir.

HERO AND ZERO—Cookie Lavagetto (left) whose pinch double put Brooklyn in the win column yesterday, 3-2, and Floyd Bevens who came within one pitch of hurling the first World Series no-hitter until Lavagetto slammed the door.

NORWALK SHADES GALION, 20 TO 13

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 4—Galion lost to Norwalk by one touchdown here last night as Norwalk scored in the last 25 seconds to take the Tigers, 20-13.

In the third play of the game, Galion opened with the scoring when Tuscon ran around end 55 yards for the touchdown. Ramsey's kick was wide.

Norwalk came back to tie the score when Shew plunged over for the tally. The pass for the extra point was incomplete.

Norwalk took the lead in the second quarter when Shew plunged off tackle after a march downfield. Moore's placement was good.

Tuscon made the second Galion touchdown in the final period, plunging 15 yards for pay dirt. Ramsey tied up the game again, running around end for the extra point.

With 25 seconds to go, Norwalk's Wild went around end from the Galion four yard line to win the game. Moore's kick was again good.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

I LOOKED at my wrist watch at Mary's question.

"I'm sure that knock isn't Noel's," I said. "It's one of your Uncle Dicky's specials. Besides, Noel isn't due down here until six-thirty."

'Well, he might beat the gun a second or two!" Mary said impatiently, but I was already opening the door to Dicky.

"Hello, everybody!" he said, as casually as if the last hour had not been packed with conferences and speculations concerning the tangled problem which Noel and Mary were facing.

"I thought I'd come down and see what the prospects was for eats," he went on. "My sternum and my spinal column are rubbing against each other, there's such a cavity inside me."

'You'll live," Katharine told him unfeelingly. "I never have known you to miss a day's broadcast upon the subject of your inside vacuum, but you look surprisingly rugged to me, just the same."

Dicky adjusted an imaginary monocle and stared at her.

"My good woman," he said haughtily, "you forget yourself."

Appealing Grin

Then he turned to me with an appealing grin.

'Please don't let that—that—person—infect you with her reactionary theories," he pleaded. "She belongs in the same category with the man who heard Oliver Twist ask for more. Tell me, please, if you love me, when do we eat—and what. Although I don't care much about the what, so there's enough of it."

"The menu is over on the table," I told him placidly.

"I was just waiting for you to come in, so I could order for you, Katharine and me. Go over and look at it, and tell me what you want."

But, despite his pretended rapacity, he did not get the menu. Instead, he moved over to Mary, took her hands in his and kissed her.

"The blooming rose has nothing on you, Brat," he said. 'I never saw you looking better. You'll surely knock 'em dead tomorrow night, when we go out dancing and dining."

I wondered if Dicky saw the shadow, which for an instant, flitted across Mary's face, and then vanished. If he did, and realized as I did her fear of how Noel's reaction to Dr. Twitchell's discipline might affect the coming party, he gave no sign of his knowledge, but rattled on with his usual line of nonsense.

"I hope you're going to show this Katharine person she isn't so gosh-almighty correct," he said. "Please go on and order everything on the menu.

"I can't, darling Uncle Dicky, until Noel gets here," Mary said. "Then we'll put in our order."

"Don't tell me you've become one of those clinging vines who can't even order a dinner unless her husband okays the order!" Dicky exclaimed, in such exaggerated horrified accents that Mary exploded in the laughter which I knew her uncle purposely was trying to provoke. He had seen her tension, I knew, and had been successful in his efforts to break it.

Katharine took her cue in the little scene, and spoke to Mary commiseratingly.

"If you don't get away from this—this—oaf," she said, "you will be in no shape to welcome your husband. Go on into the bedroom. There's a menu on the bureau, and the table is ready to spread. When Noel comes, I'll send him in. You notice I said I'll.' There will be no chances taken on irresponsible clowns messing up the routine. Then you can order and eat your dinner at your leisure."

"I'll do that little thing," Mary said, but she waited to give her beloved uncle a hug before she left us, and I guessed she was feeling joyous release and relief as she went.

"Don't let these wimmen get you down, Uncle Dicky," she told him. "Remember I don't subscribe to any of the stuff that's been hurled against your defenseless head. And you're the foppest man in the world to me, next to Noel!"

The bedroom door closed behind her as she spoke the last words, and Dicky made a face at it.

Dicky Silenced

"Next to Noel," he murmured, and I flashed over to him and put my hand against his lips, effectually closing them, while Katharine bent double with laughter.

"You're a meanie," she told me. "I'd like to hear what he was going to say."

"I wasn't goin' to say nuthin' at all," Dicky complained when I took my hand away. "I know when I'm licked. But incidentally, Katrina, let me have your hand. Now, bow low with me, to acknowledge the applaus I know my spouse is going to give us. Didn't we put on a good act for Mary, get her mind off her troubles for a minute, and get her safely shut away into the bedroom?"

"I like that 'we'!" Katharine retorted saucily, when they had straightened from their low bow, but Dicky's retort was silenced by the door knocker.

"This time," said Katharine, "my bones tell me that Noel is at the door."

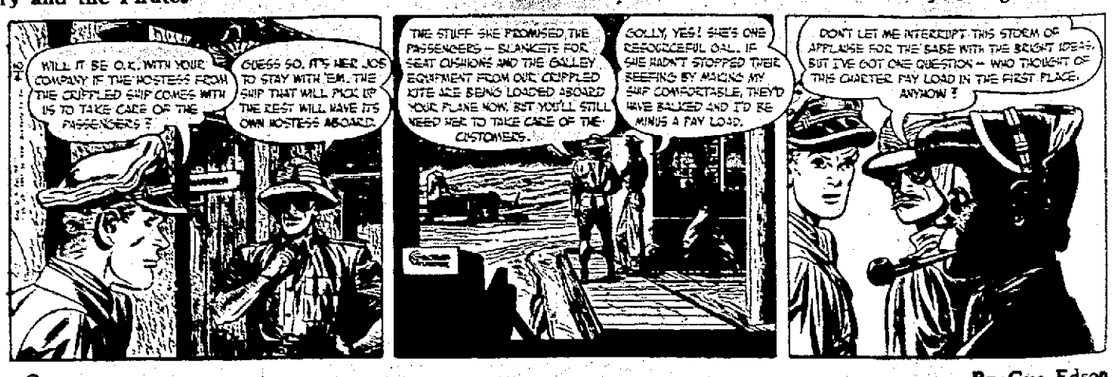
Terry and the Pirates By George Wunder



WILL IT BE O.K. WITH YOUR COMPANY IF THE HOSTESS FROM THE CRIPPLED SHIP COMES WITH US TO TAKE CARE OF THE PASSENGERS?
GUESS SO. IT'S HER JOB TO STAY WITH 'EM. THE SHIP THAT WILL PICK IT THE REST WILL HAVE ITS OWN HOSTESS ABOARD.
THE STUFF SHE PROMISED THE PASSENGERS — BLANKETS FOR SEAT CUSHIONS AND THE GALLEY EQUIPMENT FROM OUR CRIPPLED KITE ARE BEING LOADED ABOARD YOUR PLANE NOW. BUT YOU'LL STILL NEED HER TO TAKE CARE OF THE CUSTOMERS.
GOLLY, YES! SHE'S ONE RESOURCEFUL GAL. IF SHE HADN'T STOPPED THEM SEEING BY MAKING MY SHIP COMFORTABLE, THEY'D HAVE BALKED AND I'D BE MINUS A PAY LOAD.
DON'T LET ME INTERCRIPT THIS STORM OF APPLAUSE FOR THE BABE WITH THE BRIGHT IDEAS, BUT I'VE GOT ONE QUESTION — WHO THOUGHT OF THIS QUARTER, PAY LOAD IN THE FIRST PLACE, ANYHOW?
